A judiciously framed law ni this character would go far toward the effectual prevention of all illegal voting. It would pu a stop to "craveling" voters and save us from another invasion of "black carpet-bag men. annals of the world. It has remorselessly It would prevent the voting by minors and un naturalized foreigners and may be so arranged as to offer such facilities for registration that not a single legal voter need be deprived of hi suffrage by its provisions.

There is no foundation for any objection to such a law on the ground of unconstitutionality. The most plausible objection that has been made to its adoption is the additional trouble that it may impose upon voters, but we are sure that there are few, if any, bonest, well-meaning citizens of Kentucky, who are qualified ers, that would not cheerfully sesume the additional trouble of registering their names revious to an election in order to protect themelves from disfranchisement by fraudulen

It has been asserted by all parties that fraud pon the elective franchise were ex'ensively ractised in the recent election. It is not esential to our argument that we should inquire y whom these frauds have been perpetrated. t is sufficient for us to knew that unfair means have been used, and we are anxious to adopt such legal provisions as will insure perfectly strand legal elections hereafter. In this ef rt we believe that we shall receive the aid and pport of ail the honest and fair-minded citizens of all parties throughout the State.
